WHO'S WHO

SELECTED BY A JOINT COMMITTEE OF 18
STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS

WHO'S WHO

ERNEST BROWN

For his showing on the football field, his ever-pleasing smile, and his diligence in every duty, "Grandma" finds a place here.

VERDA HODGES

One who smilingly is the friend and helper of all her associates.

WHO'S WHO

ESTHER MAYS

A leader in many ways and in numerous fields on the campus.

WALTER C. BOWMAN

Outstanding for his leadership in fraternal and student affairs, as well as for his admirable scholarship.

WHO'S WHO

ARDIS CAWTHON

Scholarship, initiative, dependability, and determination blend to command respect in such a man.

LEAH QUINN

The student post office holds "Aunt Sam," Queen of the Mardi Gras, who has taken her place as a student and sorority leader.

WHO'S WHO

AVIS REGISTER

Good scholarship and amiability are found together in her.

L. V. NOLES

A campus leader who has striven to make Tech a better place for his fellow-students by his work in the "Y" and elsewhere.

WHO'S WHO

JAMES ELLIS PALMER

One who has shown to all that in him lies promise of a still greater leader—in scholarship, in publications, in dramatics, and many other phases of student activity.

JEWELL SMITH

Another Queen (of Homecoming, this time) who, during her stay at Tech, has shown that she possesses dependability and forethought.

WHO'S WHO

LOIS SMITH

With many friends to be found as co-workers in every phase of campus activity, one could hardly expect her to be less than an outstanding student.

RHODES PATTERSON

An athlete and an artist—a combination which results in another student leader taking his place in the annals of Tech.

WHO'S WHO

HERSCHEL PETTUS

In religious, campus, and fraternal circles one finds him holding an outstanding position.

MARTHA THOMPSON

Ever-cheerful and industrious, she leads her friends and associates.

CELEBRATION

CELEBRATION

The Town of Ruston celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its founding on the 13, 14, 15, and 15th of October, 1933.

With the pressing of a telegraph key installed at the White House, President Franklin D. Roosevelt officially opened the four-day fete by turning on 5,000 colored lights strung above the streets of Ruston.

Promptly at 6 p. m., the multi-colored bulbs announced that festivities were actually under way. The opening program included talks by prominent citizens and programs given by local musicians.

The program for Friday began with the awarding of the American Legion Citizenship trophy to Sheriff Thigpen of Lincoln Parish.

Three views of Ruston in the early 1900's.

The first church in Ruston, the Methodist, built in 1884.

Groups participating in the parade on Saturday.

CELEBRATION

The high spot of Friday's program came at 7 p. m. when Miss Charlotte Davis was crowned Queen of the Semi-Centennial. After the coronation at the Rialto Theatre, a reception was held at the Ruston Golf Club, followed by the Semi-Centennial Ball.

Saturday morning's program consisted of a Boy Scout jamboree at 10 o'clock and a big free barbecue on the Tech campus at 11:30. Following the "eats" on the campus, the Tech-Ruston Homecoming Parade got under way.

Floats representing the many civic organizations of the town, groups depicting the stages in the development of Ruston, Boy Scouts, National Guardsmen, and others, participated in this gala parade, which ended at Tech in time for the annual game with Southwestern Louisiana Institute.

The Queen of the Louisiana Tech Homecoming, Miss Jewell Smith, presented to Captain Waters of the Bulldogs the ball to be used in the Homecoming game.

CELEBRATION

After the Bulldogs' having suffered defeat at the hands of the South Louisiana team, things were at a standstill until the Street Party at 7 p. m. At that time, "Old Fiddlers" "did their stuff" for the crowds gathered there for the street dance which was to follow the contests.

Sunday, the celebration was brought to an end by the laying of the cornerstone of the new Methodist Educational Building.

CAMPUS CAMERA

(Give these little girls a hand—with due respect to Tech on Parade:)

Miss Barksdale: I attribute all my charm to the use of Shucks soap and my—skipit.

Miss Callahan: It's mighty fine to have your pictures in all the papers—and I surely do like candy.

Miss Lomax: Oh, yes, South Louisiana zephyrs have caused me to be the way I am, if you get what I mean.

Miss Spencer: I was heard of before Mae West. I got second in the 1932 Miss Ruston contest.

Miss Wise: These Louisiana girls just don't hold a candle to those from Arkansas (accent on the kan) so I easily see how I triumphed.

(Mae West didn't know what we know, so she can be forgiven.)

Commencement, 1933.

... and commencement,
1934.

Here we see an enlightening (yet imaginary) view of the front steps of ye olde Main as it looked on the morning of May 22, when so many campus luminaries received their sheepskins and a pat on the back.

That long-awaited walk!

Senior's Farewell
Breakfast.

Merely a Note:

(As everyone who has two good eyes or who has a sense of our humor will see, this marks FIN-IS for this year's snapshots. If the girl with whom you're pictured has done you wrong — just forget it!)

The LAGNIAPPE is the yearbook and annual publication of the students of Louisiana Tech. The title "Lagniappe" is characteristic of Louisiana and means "something extra."

The 1934 volume is the first of the 9x12 size, as well as the first known college yearbook published without aid from advertisements or subscription lists.

FIGHT 'EM BULLDOGS

G. M. BOHLER
Director of Athletics

ON THE

Many apparently good reasons might be given for the failure of the 1933 football team to win only one game of an eight-game schedule. Under these would come such items as injuries, inexperience, lack of material, and the lightness of the squad. However, the Bulldogs will say they were beaten by better teams.

The one victory was the real cream of the season so far as Tech is concerned; it was worth losing several games to down the Demons. Games with Millsaps, Henderson, Southwestern, and Copiah-Lincoln found the Techmen holding the enemy close, and in no game other than the Louisiana College fray was the team unable to claim credit.

A visit to Lubbock, Texas, gave the team spirit to beat the Normal, although the big Texas team won easily.

• BULLDOGS •

GRIDIRON

While the 1933 season is one of almost consecutive defeats it remains for loyal students to give highest commendation for the untiring efforts on the part of players and coaches in placing an eleven on the field to represent their Alma Mater. May the bitter pangs of defeat of 1933 be forgotten in a victory flush for the coming seasons.

HUMPHREYS
JOHNSON, R.

Davis was appointed captain of the team about mid-season due to his consistent ability in handling a tough job in the backfield. His punting for his senior year was outstanding.

"Windy" or "Hoss" Garrett gave Tech the victory over Normal on a 52-yard gallop to the Demon's goal posts. He drew first blood in the Texas Tech game, running 63 yards for a touchdown tally.

Royce Johnson was the only Tech player mentioned for all-association grid laurels. His brilliant senior season at end was cut short due to a lime burn he received in the Texas game.

Brewer was another of the terminal players to lose out of regular play due to injuries. His three years with the team were marked by steady hard-working effort.

C. E. Colvin proved to be just as good at tackle in his second varsity year as his record as a sophomore attested. A light man for the position, Colvin made up the difference in fight.

McCleary earned his varsity spurs as a senior after several seasons of diligent trial. He was a hard worker and deserved recognition.

Short came up with a number of other sophomores to fill a line position. Of the ideal build for guard, Short will be heard from in the next two seasons.

Waters completed the end players who were working under the injury jinx during the season. He played several games with a plaster cast on the injured member.

Election as alternate captain proves his popularity with teammates.

Keltner completed his third season playing the same grim battling game as ever. D. was good against Henderson, especially.

Causey joined the line in his junior season and was a tremendous power on offense, being a splendid tackler. "Home-Boy" can be depended on for fight regardless of the strength of the opposition.

"Shreveport" Johnson may be looked upon as a regular after a "seasoning" year as a sophomore, although he played almost as one during the latter part of the season. He can pick up lots of power carrying the pigskin.

Deas was a surprise in his sophomore season and will be one of the best linemen during the next two years. Playing that guard position with a business-like procedure, he is bound to be a repeater.

Thigpen gained fame as one of the youngest college backs in the nation. Lack of weight is all that is keeping "Sheriff" from fixing his name among the greats—he has the rest.

Daniels was never out, even when down, and is the type of player a coach can depend on. Jerry gave the Matadors a good fight at Lubbock.

Pankey, numbered among the eight other sophomores, is taking up where his brother left off in gridiron work here. The brother ("WOW") was light and so is Joe, and they both have proved good. He played in the backfield in '33, but will probably be at end next fall.

"Ike" Lowrey has the captaincy of the team for '34 and will make the Bulldogs a real field general. A genial disposition off the field disappears when big "Ike" starts to swing his mitts and "work on" the opposing line.

J. B. Colvin was a valuable man to the team in his senior year, especially so with the numerous injuries to the other end players. J. B. was out of the game a year after the Bulldogs' undefeated '32 campaign.

McKay was still another of the long list of linemen out of the game for part of the season. Mac might not have been the lightest guard ever to perform at Tech, but he has the credit of being one of the best, while playing his last year with the team.

Brooks carried little into the game insofar as football physical make-up is concerned, but this lanky soph was a regular from the start, especially good on a pass defense.

Turner did not play regularly, but the experience gained in the backfield was coming to the front in spring grid work, and he may be looked for among the starters next fall. H. A. is picking up speed and ground gaining ability.

Humphreys was appointed captain of the team at the spring meeting of the "T" club, but never entered college in the fall due to a serious injury while working in the Texas oil fields. "Minnie" will never have the chance of playing his third varsity season due to the five-year rule.

Patterson failed to play in a single game due to an injury before the season opened. He lettered at end during the '32 season and was one of the outstanding candidates for a regular berth until the injury.

ON THE HARDWOOD

Varsity 1934

Pittard, Kyle, Willis, Hinton, Thigpen
Hogan, Cox, Waters, Lowrey, Brooks, Jones, Groth

In winning 12 games and losing five, the cage season was a decided success for the Bulldogs. Tech ran second to Centenary in the state standing of association members, and after the Gents had been ruled ineligible, moved to the top of the list.

The Techmen were high scorers of the association, their aggregate points leading the runners-up by more than 100 points.

The team hit a winning streak in the first seven games of the cage race that might not have been broken had the team stayed intact. Serious illness of three regulars practically wrecked the original line-up Coach Lee started with, and before another combination had been found the season was practically over.

One of the victories at the first of the season was scored over Western Kentucky, the team that won the association title later.

Prospects are excellent for next year, with only three to be lost by graduation.

The first of the season found Groth at center; Waters and Cox at guards, and Garrigus, Brooks, or Jones at forwards. Towards the last of the season Lowrey played center with Groth going to forward.

In the association meet the Techmen lost their first game with Berea. The victors entered the tourney finals to win second place.

THE PLAYERS

Groth, Cox, Hinton, Brooks

Charlie "Groggy" Groth is the type of college athlete who completes his third year with a team with a much better record than in the first two. Groth was captain of the Bulldogs and a runner-up for scoring honors.

Frank "Red" Cox was in the thick of the fight in every game. His work at guard, although not flashy, was a main factor in the Bulldogs' successful season.

Don Hinton, third member of the team graduating from college sport, played in a number of games at guard. Don worked hard for a regular position and was ready for a call for relief work when needed.

Madison Brooks started his college cage career by bagging the high-point record for the team with 201 points. Brooks' uncanny goal work was at its best against Western Kentucky, Stetson, Louisiana College, and Mississippi Teachers.

Thad "Muddy" Waters was "stormy weather" to the opposition last winter. Undoubtedly he is one of the best guards to ever don a uniform at Tech, and the best part is that he will be with the team another season.

Billy Hogan started the season on the bench, but was ready to fill a regular position with several forwards out of the game. After the regulars had recovered, Hogan was not forgotten, and his good work won him a part-time regular job for the remainder of the season.

Harold "Ike" Lowrey saw very little action in any games until the final Loyola series. Playing at center in the last two games of the regular season "Ike" was nothing short of sensational in gaining the tip-offs and in caging shots. The coaches saw fit to play him in the association tourney at the pivot position.

Jack "Sheriff" Thigpen won his second varsity letter as a sophomore with the cage team. The "Sheriff" subbed during the season and will be a real contender for a regular berth next winter at guard.

Claude Jones was one of the unfortunates and perhaps the most "unfortunate," since a case of pneumonia prevented his playing for over a month. As a sophomore, Jones was playing regular until the illness. He will be looked upon as a promising forward next year.

ON THE DIAMOND

BASEBALL 1933

Lagrone (Manager), Rinehart, Hinton, Groth, Thompson, Edens
Moffett, Causey, Keene, Riser (Captain), Prudhomme, Davis, Causey

By defeating the Louisiana State Tigers three out of four games during the '33 diamond season the Bulldogs won a clean claim to the state baseball championship. No other college or university in the state included baseball on their spring sports calendar.

The Bulldogs played Rollins college of Florida in their only association games and secured an even split of a two-game series. Other intercollegiate games included two with the South Georgia State Teachers college, in which the Techmen were defeated both times.

For a number of years Tech has been alone among S. I. A. A. colleges of Louisiana to sponsor a baseball team. The sport has an appeal to many and it is very unlikely that it will be discontinued. When other colleges return to the game they will find Louisiana Tech leading them due to the extra effort on the part of athletic officials to continue the sport.

THE PLAYERS

Riser, Groth, Keene, Edens, Brewer

James "Cut" Riser served the team well as captain during his last year with the varsity. He started at second base as a sophomore and missed few games during the three varsity seasons. Cut was never a heavy hitter, but an infielder who could cover ground and scoop up grounders with clock-like precision.

Charlie Groth came to the front in Bulldog diamond history and led the pitching staff in the hard fought series with Louisiana State. In the third game of the series with the Tigers here, Charlie was credited with the victory.

George Keene lives up to his name in playing at shortstop for Tech. In a pinch, Keene is a good hitter and in fielding his work is keen; to say the least for a pun.

Fred "Bo" Edens, the boy from Plain Dealing, deserted interclass ranks to earn a varsity award in the sport. "Bo" pitched and mixed with the best hitters; something unusual for a twirler. Due to association rules, Edens was ineligible for further competition after the '33 season.

Henry Brewer, a heavy hitting outfielder, did his part in bringing the state title to Tech. Brewer was out of college for the '34 season, which made the 1933 season his last with the Bulldogs.

Jimmie Davis, Tech's "best athlete" of 1932-33, had a successful year on the diamond that helped him win this award. Davis pitched and played in the outfield. The '33 season was his last with Tech due to his having pitched one inning in 1931.

Hartford Causey, named as captain of the team for this year, can hold about any position on the team. He caught for the team in '33, but can handle first about as well. Causey is a natural hitter and the best of the team.

Don Hinton drove in one run and scored two others in defeating Louisiana State in the final game. Don won his first letter during this season and finishes college in 1934. He plays first base or in the outfield.

Johnny Moffett won three letters in football and track at Tech, and then took up baseball successfully in 1933. The fastest man of the team, Moffett was most valuable. A good all-round player, Tech realized what they had missed when Johnny failed to try out the other years.

Homer Prudhomme was credited with the victory in the deciding game for the state title. He was another member of the pitching staff who was equally noted for hitting, and drove out a double in the title game that later resulted in one of the four runs of the day.

Davis, Causey, Hinton, Moffett, Prudhomme

SEASON 1934

Gimber, Davis, Groth, Brooks, Kyle, Causey (Captain), Pankey, Pittard, Coach Eddie McLane
Keene, Taylor, Shackelford, Null, Hinton, Thigpen, Still

Louisiana Tech's 1934 baseball team became the first athletic team in the college's sport history to visit another section of the country for intersectional games. The Bulldogs made an extended trip to Chicago the first of May for two games with the University of Chicago nine and one with Northwestern.

In the first intercollegiate games of the season the Canines split a series each with Louisiana State and Mississippi college.

S.I.A.A. CHAMPIONS—1933

Frey, Crawford, Deloney, Lowrey, Hudson, Coach Shirley
Garrett, Brewer, Brown (Captain), Holmes, Yeldell, Humphreys, Johnson

SEASON 1933

Winning a championship is one thing and defending it about twice as much more, but the 1933 Bulldog thinclads found little opposition in repeating as district track champs. Besides the association honors, Coach Shirley piloted his team through their second undefeated season.

The success of the track team is still more remarkable because most of the athletes received their first training in their sport after entering Tech. Leaders of the championship team, with few exceptions, can attribute their prowess in their special event to the able coaching of E. M. Shirley, a man who has seen track sport at Tech grow from its first year into the association champion.

In dual meets the Bulldogs were easily winners, the surprising total of points garnered in the district event being more than the most loyal supporters of the team dared predict.

The team was well balanced and strong in every event with the exception of the distance races.

THE TRACKMEN

Brown, Yeldell, Holmes, Johnson

Don Brown, captain of the team, was told by his high school coach that he wasn't the man for a high hurdler. Until the district meet in May, Don had been undefeated in the event for two years. Besides performing over the high and low timbers, Don developed into a first-class high jumper during the season.

Berry Yeldell, taking a last fling at college athletics, tossed the shot and threw the discus for a regular 10 points in the meets and repeated as champion in both events at the district meet. At the district meet Berry shattered both records, in the shot and discus.

Ed Holmes, understudy to Brown in the hurdles and jumps, earned more than a share of points for the Bulldogs. He was appointed captain of the '34 team at the conclusion of the track season.

Ben Johnson was one of the three good low hurdlers, and also ran a lap in the relay. Johnson was one of the senior trackmen.

Henry Brewer won the javelin event in nearly every meet, and the championship at the district meet for five more Tech points.

Herman Humphreys ran the low hurdles very few times during the two years he was a member of the team, but has yet to lose a race. "Minnie" led the field in the low hurdles at the district meet for the second consecutive year. He also participated in broad jumping and the quarter-mile.

Willard Jones was headed for a brilliant senior season until sickness intervened, but was back in condition to take part in the district affair. Pointed in the low hurdles, and was also a good relay man when in condition.

L. G. Garrett was the real "Race-Hoss" of the squad and the best sprinter in track history here. In his first season with the varsity Garrett won the short races regularly, and won the 220 and placed second in the century in the district meet.

Harold Lowrey was another heavy-pointing "understudy" of the team. "Ike" mustered points with Yeldell in the discus and shot to give the Bulldogs a strong combination in the events. He was close to Yeldell in the shot-put in several meets.

TRACK SQUAD, 1934—FRESHMAN AND VARSITY

Norris, Turner, Coates, Smelley, Hilburn, Stone, Ford, Waters, Lowrey, Cargill
Phillips, Garrett, Crawford, Garrigus, Wilks, Cole, Taylor, Kudryk, Neal, Latimer (Manager)

With the loss of many lettermen, the 1934 track team faced a hard schedule. In the first meet the Bulldogs defeated Louisiana college $60\frac{1}{2}$ to $48\frac{1}{2}$, but came out second in a triangular meet with Mississippi college and Millsaps at Clinton. In the latter meet the score was Mississippi college $62\frac{2}{3}$ points; Tech, $60\frac{1}{3}$ points, and Millsaps, nine points.

Other meets of the season included dual affairs with Southwestern and Normal, and the district meet.

The freshman team lost to Louisiana college, but won from the two Mississippi yearling teams while the varsity was involved in a similar triangular fray.
